cons. Shepard & Ogden, states that she sues to re-over her share in the estate of her father, which by her brother, the defendant, at only $5,500 Mrs. Frethey, in support of her application for the arrest of the defendant, submitted a long affidavit, in ch she set out the circumstances of the litigaher father died on October 5, 1885, and that his estate, which consisted of stock in the Adirondack d Company and stock and bonds of the Adirondack Land Company, could not have been less than the amount at which she estimates his She says that soon after her father's death there was a meeting between her brother, her mother and herself, at which the defendant suggested in so many securities, he should be appointed to make the disposition of the estate. She and her mother consented to this proposition, and gave him power of altorney to deal with the estate.

Mrs. Frethey says she then went to Europe. On July 17, 1891, she married Arthur Frethey, who died Mrs. Fretney says says the tree free ways who died on August 2s of the same year. She subsequently married Charles H. M. Rose. She alleges that she often tried to obtain an accounting from the defendant, but without swall. He told her, she states, that the estate was of little value, and that there were a great many claims against it. While she was living in London, she says, the defendant appeared there, and lived for a considerable time there and spent large sums of money. She says that she demanded an explanation of the reason why she was kept in a state of comparative poverty while he was living extravagantly, but instead of answering her he threatened that he would have her arrested and went so far as to threaten to shoot her. Mrs. Frethey says she is at present actually penniless, and is dependent on friends for her support.

CONGRATULATIONS FOR MR. TAPPEN.

HIS THIRTIETH ANNIVERSARY AS PRESIDENT OF THE GALLATIN BANK

The friends of Frederick D. Tappen bore in mind that yesterday was the thirtleth anniversary of his election as president of the Gallatin National Bank, and all day long he was kept busy in receiving callers, who came to offer him their hearty congratmations. Mr. Tappen left the office before 3 o'clock. but still the callers kept coming. To give the list of them would be to name the leading bank officers and business men of the financial district, for they are all his friends, and all sought yesterday to do honor to a man whose stainless integrity, whose reputation as an able and conservative financier and whose conspicuously successful conduct for so many years of the important bank of which he is the executive head are known of all men.

Mr. Tappen has been connected with the Gallatin National Bank for forty-eight years in all, having entered its service as a junior clerk in 1850. He succeeded James Gallatin, son of Albert Gallatin, as president on July 1, 1855, being promoted from cashier, which place he had filled for the preceding cleven years.

INTEREST AND DIVIDEND PAYMENTS.

IT IS ESTIMATED THAT THEY AMOUNT TO $100. 000,000 IN THIS CITY.

interest and dividends in this city, which are always heavy on July 1, aggregated yesterday fully $100,000,600. The Clearing House showed in unusually large exchanges, amounting to $172,162,022, with balances of $13,722,702. The National City Bank was debtor to the Clearing House in the sum of $5,495,000, and it is possible that the heavy debit balance of this bank, which is one of the special depositories of the subscriptions to the new Government war lean, may have been due in part to the withdrawal of some of the fund collected by it for this account. The Chemical Na ern National Bank in $1,23,000. The heavy credit balances were National Bank of Commerce $3,508.000; Corn Exchange Bank, $1,22,000. Manhattan Company, $1,26,000, and Mechanics National Bank, $1,145,000. The National Park Bank settled exchanges aggregating $2,000,000, and was creditor at the Clearing House in the sum of $75,000.

NATIONAL BANKS PROSPERING.

GROWTH OF THEIR BUSINESS STATED BY CON TROLLER DAWES.

Washington, July 1. Charles G. Dawes, the Controller of the Currency, to-day made the following formi banks at the close of the fiscal year. The last year has been one of growth and expension in the business of the National banks of he country, as reports of their present condition ompared with former reports clearly indicate the individual deposits of the banks which on the individual deposits of the banks which on the last year show that he rate of gain was quite uniform. The declaration of war did not stop this gain, the increase etween February IS and May 5 of this year being 18-81-86, and the individual deposits of the National banks of the United States now stand at the highest point in the history of the system. The expansion in loans since May It, 183, has seen $15,73,835. The concurrent expansion in the cans and individual deposits of our banking system is the best possible evidence of growing combined in the business and banking world increasing deposits with contracting loans, or devices the former of the presence of growing or deposits of our banking system is the best possible evidence of growing constants.

that, as the property was large and was invested | going inland, and larger shipments to lake ports going inland, and larger shipments to lake ports are anticipated. The estimated output for July is 3,500,000 tons. New-York prices are apparently well maintained but at a number of other points there is considerable demornification. The soft coal trade continues very dull. The low ocean freights do not bring out any orders and coastwise business a confined to contract deliveries. Prices at mines and tide have fallen about five cents per ton.

"The from market is in rather a doubtful state, complaints being made of the absence of new orders. Work is going out faster than orders are coming in, but it is to be remembered that we are now in a dull season, and that there are prospects of improvement later on. Buyers however, are not at all frightened by threats of higher prices, and seem to be quite confident that they will be able to get all the material they want at low prices. It is understood that so large a proportion of the furnaces have refused to come into any agreement that the plans for a combination of foundry and forge from will probably not be carried out. The air is full of rumord of all sorts of big combinations, but their authenticity is very doubtful.
